FINANCIAL REPORT.

Annual Statement of the Secretary of the Treasury.

PRESENT MONETARY CONDITION.

James W Huston, Treasurer of the United States, Submits His Annual Report to Secretary Windom—Other Dispatches Telegraphed From Washington.

WASHINGTON Nov 19 The treasurer of the United States, Hon James N. Huston, has submitted to Secretary Windom his report on the operations and conditions of the treasury for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1890.

The net ordinary revenues amount d to $403,080,982.65, a sum but twice exceeded in the history of the government. The increase over the year before was $16,030,923.79, of which $11,125 101.89 came from the internal revenue. The ordinary expenditures were $297,796,486.70, an increase of $15,538,851 over those of the year before. The growth of the revenues was therefore a little greater than that of the expenditures, and there would have been a falling off in the latter but for the increase in pensions. The surplus revenues were $105,-284,436.63, of which $20,561,224.06 was paid out in premiums on bonds purchased. According to the warrants the receipts of the postoffice department were $61,168,011.01, and the expenditures $67,011,616.61, an increase of between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 on both sides.

At the close of business on June 30, 1889, there stood charged to the treasurer on the books of the department, the sum of $875,503,118.18. To this were added the receipts of the year from the revenues and on account of the public debt, amounting in all to $448,675,-363.74, so that the aggregate for which he was accountable during the year was $1,324,177,481.92. Of this he disbursed $600,247,678.16 on the warrant of the department, leaving $723,929,803.76 in his charge on June 30, 1890. There were included in these accounts, however, upwards of $25,000,000 on deposit with the states under an old law, besides nearly $1,500,000 of unavailable funds, for which the treasurer was not responsible. On the other hand, there was on deposit with him for various purposes a large sum of which the department took no account, and he had received other sums which had not yet been charged to him. The true amount for which he was accountable on June 30, 1889, was $760,643,871.26, and $757,915,078.94 a year later, against which he held a like amount of assets, consisting of gold, silver, paper currency, and deposits with National banks. The amount of gold in the treasury increased during the year from $103,287,719.79 to $320,-963,145.02, and the silver from $115,160,-779.58 to 346,821,666.09.

Exclusive of amounts on deposit, there was in the treasury, belonging to the government, on June 30, 1889, $326,028,-927.81, and on June 30, 1890, $286,384,-815.74, the amount of gold having increased about $4,000,000, while the silver decreased nearly $6,000,000. The liabilities decreased during the year from $127,931,880.61 to $107,124,718.34, and the reserve, being the excess assets over liabilities, ran down from $198,097,-017.17 to $179,259,967.39.

The difficulties in the way of making a plain statement of the liabilities of the treasury and the public debt are pointed out, and the changes recently made in the debt statement explained. The total obligations of the treasury on all accounts were $1,879,675,475.06 on June 30, 1889, and $1,722,240,163.02 on June 30, 1890. The debt less cash in the treasury was $1,050,034,663.80, on the former date and $964,325,084.08 on the latter. Not counting certificates of deposit, the debt proper, in the shape of bonds and circulating notes, was reduced from $1,-250,943,136.23 to $1,145,940,986.53. This was effected at a total cost of $124,952,-243.50 for principal and premiums. Nearly $74,000,000 of four per cent. bonds and upwards of $20,000,000 of four-and-a half per cents were purchased.

Important changes took place in the circulating medium, but they were of a more favorable character than those of the year before. There was a gain of $5,000,000 in the stock of gold, an increase of $3,000,000 in that of silver, and a contraction of 26,000,000 in the volume of bank notes, resulting in a net increase of $32,000,000 in the aggregate supply of money. The total stock, including certificates of deposit as well as the gold, silver and notes held in the treasury for their redemption, is estimated to have increased from $2,099,-968,715 to $1,170,107,136, and the actual circulation, being the stock less the amount in the treasury, from $1,387,-551,855 to $1,443,005,648. In round numbers the circulation on June 30, 1890, consisted of $705,000,000 of gold and gold certificates, $344,000,000 of silver and silver certificates and $331,000,000 of United States and National bank notes.

In view of the prominence which the money circulation and the relations of the treasury thereto have assumed in public discussion, the treasury thinks the time opportune for presenting information of a kind to throw light on the subject. Accordingly, he explains with care the effect which the operations of the treasury have upon the circulating medium; how the stock in circulation is ascertained, and how the amounts of the several kinds of currency in the hands or control of the people are arrived at. He gives statements, tables, extending over the last fourteen years, which show the monthly changes and an outline statement of each kind of United States paper currency by denominations; the total volume of each denomination outstanding at the end of each year; the amounts in the treasury and in circulation at the end of each month; the estimate stock of gold and silver in the country at the end of each year to 1885, and at the end of each quarter thereafter, and finally the amounts of each and all held in the treasury, or estimated to be in circulation, at the same periods.

Not much change has taken place in the movement of the United States notes. There was a decline of activity in the issue and redemption of gold certificates, with the net increase of only $5,500,000 in the amount outstanding. The handlings were mostly of the latter denominations, which are used in the collection of customs and the settlement of the clearing house balances in New York. The absorption of legal tender silver into the circulation, in the form of the [illegible] has been fully up to the [illegible] supplying the [illegible] of standard silver dollars and $5,000,000 more. There was also an outflow of between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 of fractional silver coins, which encouraged the hope that with good management the treasury, in the course of a few years more, may be relieved of the redundant stock of these coins for some time on hand. On the 30th of June there were nearly $2,000,000 of uncurrent gold and silver coins in the treasury, besides $6,500,000. The appropriation of $10,000,-000 for the year will serve for the recoinage of only about $450,000,000 of silver. Counterfeit notes representing an aggregate value of $8,475, were presented at the office at an increase of $2,200 over the year before.

There was a decrease of less than $3,-000,000 in the bonds on deposit to National bank circulation. Seventy-three banks were discontinued as depositories. The redemptions of bank notes amounted to nearly $10,000,000, and decreases of upwards of $20,000,000 as compared with the year before. Owing chiefly to the lower prices ruling for bonds, the deposits for the retirement of National bank notes amounted to only $11,000,000. By the act of July 14, 1890, these deposits together with the balance of them remaining in the treasurer's hands at the time, were required to be received into the treasury, and a like amount of outstanding bank notes to be reported each month as debt of the United States bearing no interest. The work of receiving these deposits and redeeming the notes out of them has been done heretofore without accountability to the department. The total amount of money received on these deposits the 25th if July last was nearly $479,000,000, of which $101,000,000 was paid out in redemption notes and upwards of $20,000,-000 was refunded transferred. The balance on hand, amounting $54,388,-475.55, was deposited in the treasury by the treasurer check.

The attention of congress, says the report, has been called to the condition of the vaults and safes in the office, with an appeal for means to provide others of modern design.

No changes of importance have occurred in the routine business other than those incident to the increase of the revenues. The immense operations of the year were accomplished with the movement of about $100,000,000 less money in and out of the treasury than was found necessary the previous year.

In conclusion the treasurer commends the officers associated with him for the manner in which they have performed their duties.

That Indian Outbreak.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The war department is in receipt of no information tending to confirm or discredit the alarming news published in the newspapers about a threatened Indian uprising. Several new men are now Indian agents at points in the Sioux nation, and, being unfamiliar with the Indian character, they have become, in the opinion of war department officials, unnecessarily alarmed by the demonstrations of the Indians, and have given out to the newspapers an expression of their fears, which, it is believed will prove to be ill founded.

Mail Robber's Sentence.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Chief Postoffice Inspector Rathbone received a telegram yesterday from St. Louis stating that George Harris, the postal clerk, arrested some time ago for robbing the mails, was tried there yesterday and sentenced to eighteen months' hard labor in the penitentiary at Jefferson City.

Two More Torpedo Cruisers.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Secretary Tracy has in contemplation the building of two torpedo cruisers one of 850 tons displacement, and one of 1,200 tons displacement. The plans will be drawn during the next few months, and congress will be asked to make appropriations for the cruisers.

Ohio Bidders Successful.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Bids were opened yesterday at the treasury department for the joiners work on the public building at Pittsburg, Pa. The bids took a wide range, the highest being $411,000 and the lowest that of Wood, Jenks & Company, of Cleveland, O. for $122,000.

Going to See Professor Koch.

Great Fears of an Indian Outbreak.

EXCITEMENT IN MANDAN, N. DAK

Settlers Prepared to Believe Anything About the Indians Because of Their Queer Actions The Population Thoroughly Aroused—Bloodshed Feared in the Near Future.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 19.—A Mandan, N. Dak., special to The Tribune says: Every hour in which is full to overflowing with refugees [illegible] country districts. Most direful excitement prevails in the country. Settlers are prepared to believe anything about Indians, because of their queer actions lately. Several families came in yesterday afoot, a distance of twenty miles and over, too poor to own wagons. It town somewhat less tension exists, owing to the receipt of 500 guns ye terday from the state government, and the fact that a company of soldiers will soon be here from Fort Totten.

There are now 200 Indians in town armed, but citizens are armed, too, and rifles will be cut and people will sleep with their clothes on. A date will be fixed by a committee of citizens and Indian agents notified that after that date any Indian found in this county without a pass from an agent will be killed on sight. The population is thoroughly aroused and although conservative men are doing their best to quiet the angry populace, there is every reason to believe that unless the government takes immediate steps to increase the force of soldiers here at Fort Lincoln, every Indian coming into this county will be killed.

A Mandan special to The Tribune says: Nearly a hundred settlers were on a train last night from West End county going to Bismarck for safety. At Gladstone, forty miles west, citizens turned out en masse, throwing up circular breastworks by moonlight, large enough to get into for protection. A supply of rifles were sent to each settlement in the county. Telegrams are coming in constantly for supplies of ammunition. A telegram received by a correspondent from New Salem stated that 150 Indians are camped south of that point, and the people are clamoring for guns and powder. A number of determined men, bent on driving out of the town the Indians camped here, have deferred action on the Indians promising to be peaceable.

While the correspondent was writing this a band of redskins were having a grass dance, making night hideous. Their shrieks could be heard for miles. While the excitement in town is subsiding, because of the presence of plenty of guns, agitation in the country is worse than ever. This is caused largely by the insolent and menacing attitude of roving bands of Indians traveling through the country. Agent McLaughlin wires that there is no cause for alarm, but everybody believes this is buncombe.

A Chadron, Neb., special to The Tribune says: It is reported here that the Indians at the Pine Ridge agency, South Dakota, have gotten entirely beyond the control of the agent there, and have already begun depredations in the way of stealing cattle and other property. Three hundred soldiers from Fort Robinson passed through here on their way to the scene of excitement, and it is said that there will be 2,000 troops on hand by to-morrow.

A Mandan, N. Dak., special to The Journal, says: An easier feeling prevails here this morning because of the receipt of arms and ammunition by the citizens. Six mounted friendly scouts have been sent to patrol the reservation. Settlers are still coming in from all directions. The gravest fears are entertained for the safety of the settlers in the southern part of the county.

A Bismarck, N. Dak., special to The Journal says: The Tribune says there is no substantial foundation for the wild rumors of an Indian uprising at Standing Rock. It says: "The Indians are living peacefully on their reservations and waiting patiently for the next ration day." Nevertheless there is a great deal of excitement in this vicinity. Half a dozen new-paper correspondents from the east arrived in Mandan yesterday. Capt. Greig, Governor Miller's private secretary, was busy all night getting up arms and ammunition which were sent to Marion Agent McLaughlin, at Standing Rock. Reports everything quiet and orderly there. The opinion of conservative people is that the Indians do not dream of an outbreak.

THE NEW CRUISER MAINE

Successfully Launched at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 19.—As early as 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, invited guests began to enter the navy yard and to take their places on the staging that had been built to accommodate them in witnessing the launch of the great armored cruiser Maine. Just after 10 o'clock Secretary of the Navy Tracy arrived with his party and was received by all the officers of the yard. As he entered the main gate a salute of nineteen guns was fired from the Vermont.

The final preparations for launching the Maine were begun, and shortly after noon, amid the cheers of the thousands of spectators and the music of the "Star Spangled Banner," played by the navy yard band, the big cruiser started down the incline. As she did so, Miss Wilmerding, a niece of Secretary Tracy, broke a bottle of champagne over the bow and christened the vessel. As the Maine reached the water and the flag was hoisted, the Vermont's battery thundered out a National salute.

The launch took place at 12:15. Fifty thousand people witnessed the launching. The day was a most propitious one. Clear and cold, a fresh breeze from the west blowing over the East river, causing the flags on the various vessels of the navy that were decked in rainbow fashion to stand out in all the georgousness of their varied colors. Every detail had been carefully arranged by Capt. Miller, the commandant of the yard.

Eight stands had been erected for the spectators at the most advantageous points in the yard, from which the sight was witnessed.

With Secretary of the Navy Tracy came John G. Soley, the assistant secretary; Maj. Gen. Schofield, Private Secretary H. W. Raymond and Capt. R. L. Phythian, superintendent of the naval academy, and the naval attaches of the foreign legations.

Admiral Gherardi also accompanied the party. Rear Admiral Braine, with his staff, received the distinguished party as they landed and conducted them to his house.

At the bow of the Maine a large stand was erected that surrounded the bows on both sides. From this on the cruiser's starboard bow was a smaller one raised some ten feet higher. On this stood Miss Alice Wilmerding, the granddaughter of Secretary Tracy, her grandfather by her side, and surrounded by a brilliant staff of naval officers.

In her hand, covered with gold leaf and decked with ribbons, she held a bottle of American made champagne, with which to christen the steel monster as it slid off the ways into the waters of the wall about.

At fifteen minutes past 11 o'clock Constructor Wood, with 300 men, began to wedge up the cradle under the ship. Fifteen minutes later everything was in readiness, and the vast multitude waited until the tide reached its highest limit, which was at 12:45.

At 12:40 men were set to work under the bows of the cruiser sawing in two the sole piece that alone held the immense mass of steel in place. For three minutes they worked driving the saw through the great stick of oak.

Gradually the cruiser strained, and at 12:44, slowly at first, almost imperceptibly, she began to move, and thirteen seconds later she floated clear of the land.

Just as she first moved Miss Wilmerding dashed the bottle of champagne against the starboard bow, saying: "I christen thee Maine."

As the hull cleared the ship house, the treasury flag poles were placed in position and three American flags thrown to the breeze. When the ship entered the water a mighty cheer went up from the assembled crowds while the tugs and yachts and the war vessels saluted with their bells and whistles.

A salute was fired and a number of aerial bombs fired high in the air from vessels in the river where they exploded with a tremendous noise. Two of the navy yard tugs quickly made fast to the Maine and she was towed to the dock and made fast.

The launch was a most thorough success. Everything worked as arranged beforehand, and nothing occurred to mar the occasion.

The Maine is 324 feet over all, 57 feet extreme breadth and has a mean draught of 21 feet. Her displacement is 6,682 tons, and she will have a speed of seventeen knots. She will have twin screws which will be driven by engine with 9,000 horse power, making 132 revolutions per minute.

Her armament will consist of four ten-inch breech-loading rifles, six six-inch breech-loading rifles, and a secondary battery of four six-pound rapid-firing guns, eight three-pound rapid-firing guns, two one-pound rapid-firing guns, four 37-revolver cannons, four Gatling guns, seven torpedo tubes. The side armor belt will be twelve inches in thickness, and extend over the vitals of the vessel on each side for 190 feet.

The Maine will be at once placed in the dry dock and there completed.

Will Go Back Without Papers.

SALISBURY, Md., Nov. 19.—A man arrested here last night charged with carrying concealed weapons gave his name as John Reeves. Subsequently he was recognized as Samuel Lewis, who is wanted in Accomac court house, Va., to answer a charge of murder. The sheriff of Accomac was telegraphed for and identified the prisoner. Lewis accompanied the sheriff without any requisition papers. He is wanted for the murder of George Twiford, at Locust, Va., which was committed on March 7.

No More Police Interference.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19. In the case of Sidney Huntington, one of the principals arrested during a glove fight at the California Athletic club last September, the jury yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty. This virtually settles the question of the right of athletic clubs to hold glove exhibitions without police interference.

Suit to Remove a Body.

GREENVILLE, O., Nov. 19.—Archbishop W. H. Elder, of Cincinnati, has begun a suit for the removal of Jennie Henry's body from the Catholic cemetery at Greenetown, this county, interred Nov 5. Deceased was not a communicant of the church, hence the action. The petition asks the court to order the sheriff to remove the body in case her husband and relatives do not. It is the first suit in this part of the country of this kind.

To Be Placed in the Annex.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 19.—Warden Dyer has decided that "Big Liz Carter," the Cincinnati murderess, will have to be put in a department with other condemned prisoners. He takes the view that the law is specified and mandatory in requiring "prisoners convicted of a capital crime to be placed in a department specially provided," and the only place of the kind specified is the annex. The annex has now five inmates.

THE CHEROKEE STRIP.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19.—President E. M. Hewins, of the Cherokee Strip Live Stock association, arrived in the city Monday. In speaking of vacating the strip by the first of December, in accordance with the agreement with the government, he said: "We shall have all the cattle belonging to our association out of the strip by the last of next week. In fact there are more than 10,000 cattle remaining to be shipped from the strip."

In speaking of the strip being opened to settlement he said: "I don't think that the country can be opened for settlement right away. The Indians, under the leadership of Chief Mayes, will never take $1.25 for the land. The chief says that they ought to get from $5 to $10 from the government for the land, and that it ought to be graded according to value. He is right so far as the grading of the land is concerned, but I don't think that the government will accept the figures named by him."

Senatorial Caucus in Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 19.—The joint senatorial caucus of the legislature was called to order at 8 o'clock last night by Senator Hundley, chairman of the senate caucus. One hundred and twenty-seven members of the senate and house answered roll call. The first ballot resulted: Pugh, 42; Kolb, 42; Seay, 32; Watts, 11. But slight changes occurred until the fifth ballot, when Pugh received 48; Kolb, 38; Seay, 30, and Watts, 11.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

ATLANTA, Nov. 19.—The morning of the last day of the Woman's Christian Temperance union convention, was devoted to a great many short addresses and preparations for the leave-taking, and nothing of general interest was done.

EIGHTFUL CALAMITY.

It Results in the Death of Two Men and the Injury of Several Others.

LIMA, O., Nov 19.—About 10 o'clock yesterday a frightful fatality occurred at the Standard Oil company's Solar refinery resulting in the death of two men and the injury of a dozen others, some very seriously. The frame work of the new building, over the additional stills that are being put in, fell. Fifty or sixty men were engaged around it at the time of the accident. Very soon crowds of workmen were on hand extricating those in the ruins.

It was found that two were dead. These were E. Spriedel and James Cable, who had been caught and crushed by timbers. Their bodies were carried to the office of the refinery, and the coroner was promptly notified.

Cable's breast was crushed into pulp, but the skin was not broken, save a slight cut just above the heart. Spriedel was struck on the head by a beam, and the top of his head crushed in like an egg shell and the right eye torn out.

Spriedel was a mason by trade, and came here from Michigan. He was a single man. Cable was a laborer, 62 years old. He came from Kenton, where he had a wife and two children.

The injured are: W. F. Cox, leg broken; home at Roseville; Jeff. Winner, spine injured and badly bruised about the region of the kidneys; married and lives here. These two are in a critical condition and may die to-day. J. P. Hine, bruised about the body, is a Mason and resides here. George Marks, leg crushed. W. F. Ione, hand cut and leg fractured. Charles A. Moore, shoulder and one leg injured and otherwise bruised. E. J. Quinlan, cut on chin and over the eye. Two Italians, D. Nicneria and J. Graci, both hurt. Walter Lawrence, George Bond and James Shap were severely injured.

The building superintendent, Van Dicke, said: "I do not know how to account for the accident upon any other theory than that the recent rains had so saturated the ground as to undermine the foundation."

Arrested for Grand Larceny.

CANISTEO, N. Y., Nov. 19.—W. P. Bickford, a merchant tailor of this place, was arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out by New York creditors charging him with grand larceny. Bickford made an assignment to a relative, as agent for his wife and his stock was replevined by New York parties. Last night the goods were taken from his store without the knowledge of his creditors, hence his arrest.

Philadelphia Failure.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—Just before the closing of the Commercial Exchange yesterday afternoon, the announcement was made of the failure of L. G. Graeff, a grain dealer and broker, a member of the Exchange. The failure of Graeff caused the suspension of Wilson Welsh, who operates a flour mill. The failure caused some excitement.

Tony Hart Insane.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—A sheriff's jury decided that Tony Hart, the actor, was insane. The chief witness was Dr. Frederick H. Daniels, of the Worcester insane asylum, where Hart is confined. Hart's estate is valued at $22,000.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

LONDON, O., Nov. 19.—James Evans, who was indicted for murder in the second degree for inflicting fatal stabs on the person of Mrs. Elizabeth Jones on July 8, pleaded guilty to manslaughter at Columbus.

Murder in the Second Degree.

PLYMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 19.—Walter M. Shaw yesterday plead guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of J. M. Emery, at Wentworth, N. H., May 10, 1890. He was sentenced to fifteen years' hard labor in the state prison.

THE new board of trade was inspired by the newspapers, but how many give them the credit of it?

IT is hardly probable that Minnie Palmer's husband's attack upon her with a carving knife was for advertising purposes. It doesn't matter to us anyhow. Minnie will hardly play Marion until the new opera house is erected.

MR. PARNELL'S connection with the O'Shea divorce proceedings calls to mind the modern commandment—"Don't be found out." There are many men who are in the same boat as the great Irish leader if they were only shown up.

MR. FOSTER can divert his mind from the recent election results by studying the threatened Indian troubles in the Northwest. The warlike Sioux Indians were the source of Mr. Foster's new name Young-man-proud-of-his-tail. But Mr. Foster's tail has not wafted proudly since election.

THERE is a good deal of misdirected charity in this great country. Just now there is a move on foot in New York to establish a home for friendless cats. The projectors of this scheme can hardly be unaware of the thousands of children in the metropolis who are homeless, who have minds to educate and destinies that may be bettered by early care and training.

THIS is about the season to make the annual inquiry about a charity ball. Of course it is a misnomer, for a charity ball is not a very charitable affair, but then it is quite the proper thing to have anyhow. If there could be the same endeavors and outlays made in providing a good fund for the relief societies the sum would be larger and the effects better, but that is quite impossible.

GOVERNOR CAMPBELL has issued his proclamation naming Thursday, Nov. 27, as a day for general thanksgiving, and he requests the people of the state to desist from all labor and dedicate the day to "the worship of God, and to such other acts and deeds as may be appropriate to manifest the gratitude a civilized and christian people must feel for the great goodness shown them by our heavenly Father."

WITH a well officered board of trade and a large and enthusiastic membership of energetic citizens the organization should be of incalculable value to Marion. It is hoped this move will be a gratifying success. This seems to be a splendid time, too, to get some early results. With a half dozen industries within possible reach some one or two of them ought to be grasped. The men of moderate means at least stand ready to contribute to the city's welfare.

THE couple business failures reported in our local columns today are not business failures in the proper sense of the word. They are small collapses that do not reflect the real state of business bearings (not the London Barings). Causes of the lack of success do not get to the surface usually, and there are many failures that are such when they start, so we say these little collapses do not indicate anything about Marion business matters.

THE epidemics of disease are known to comewholly from uncleanliness, from foul back yards, bad vaults, poor sewerage and impure water. The bitter experiences that are undergone would seem to teach more care and cleanliness, but they do not. People realize the neglect after death has invaded their homes—after the terrors of epidemics have been sadly felt. Good sewerage, pure water and clean premises are worth more than a nation of doctors and all the drugs in the world.

THE Cincinnati Commercial Gazette has begun a splendid fight against blundering railroad management that is killing off many citizens every day. Every day's newspapers contain accounts of fatal wrecks, with the lists of victims varying in number, and it takes but a few days to run the list of names into the hundreds. The state of affairs is really alarming, especially to those who travel, and it is high time that a movement is on foot to do something against the wholesale murdering process. Railroads have spent large sums to attain a high rate of speed without a corresponding outlay for a guarantee of safety. The result is that fatal wrecks are reported with frightful regularity. Yet the people will travel hazardous as it is. A general refusal to do so would soon force a guarantee of safety, but such a result is quite impossible. It does seem, however, that there might be the proper enactment of laws, followed by a rigid enforcement, that would greatly reform matters.

It is sometimes said that the scratch of a man's nail is poisonous. There is no reason to suspect the nail tissue; it is more likely the germs fall in a wound from a bacterial nest under the nail. Children are very apt to neglect to purify their nails when washing hands, and this matter is not always sufficiently attended to among surgical patients. Personal cleanliness is a part of civic duty, and, as Dr. Abbott well expressed the matter in his address to teachers, should be taught to school children, and insisted on in practice.

A Good Hearty Laugh.

"There is not," says a contemporary, "the remotest corner or little inlet of the minute blood vessels of the human body that does not feel some wavelet from the convulsions occasioned by good, hearty laughter. The life principle, or the central man, is shaken to the innermost depths, sending new tides of life and strength to the surface, thus materially tending to insure good health to the persons who indulge therein. The blood moves more rapidly, and conveys a different impression to all the organs of the body as it visits them on that particular journey when the man is laughing from what it does at other times. For this reason every good, hearty laugh in which a person indulges lengthens his life, conveying as it does new and distinct stimulus to the vital forces. Doubtless the time will come when physicians, conceding more importance than they now do to the influence of the mind upon the vital forces of the body, will make up their prescriptions more with reference to the mind and less to drugs for them, and will in so doing find the best and most effective method of producing the effect upon the patient."

Nasal Obstruction.

It is the opinion of a noted specialist on the diseases of the nose, throat and lungs, as given by The World, that one baby in every three has a growth in the nose that obstructs nasal respiration. One evidence is seen in the baby hospital, the great number of sleepers breathing through the mouth entirely. The disease, generally hereditary, is facilitated by the very bad air supplied the little one, who, if put to sleep with a nurse or adult, generally inhales bodily exhalations from under cover. It will be well for the health of young America when the old fogy idea of putting babies to sleep with their heads covered is eradicated. A baby to grow good stout lungs must have good pure air in abundance. It is neither natural nor wholesome to smother the tot, nor is an even temperature necessary to keep him from catching cold. The babies that live in the open air are the healthiest, and in a climate like this there will be less than ten days in the year when it will not be beneficial to give the youngster an airing.

A Useful Remedy in Heart Disease.

Dr. Orlando Jones calls attention in The British Medical Journal to cactus grandiflorus as a remedy likely to prove useful in certain conditions of the heart. Digitalis, strophanthus and convallaria are not always reliable in the varied conditions of the heart. The action of digitalis is not unfrequently disappointing in the case of a feeble heart, especially if that feebleness is excessive and of long duration. In such instances cactus grandiflorus may fill a gap where other remedies appear to be lacking. The action of this remedy seems to be the very opposite of that of digitalis; that is, in the final stage it strengthens the heart.

SOCIAL ETIQUETTE.

The Indescribable Trifles That Give One the Stamp of "Good Form."

All the etiquette books that were ever published from those that enforce the somewhat obvious precept of "Do not eat with your knife" to the carefully studied maxims written by well known society people in this country and in England, cannot instill the distinctive marks of "good form" that come from customary contact with people of good breeding. There are little shades which human nature, real human knowledge of the world that to the minute detail would be imperceptible. The Tribune illustrates this point with a story of a little girl who was trying to describe the family of which her schoolmates thoroughly most persons each and comfortable, with better houses and more servants than the child's own people could boast of, and yet she felt instinctively there was a difference and she could not define it. Finally she burst out with, "Well, they are the kind of people that never see 'Punch!'"

WHAT SHALL WE WEAR?

CORRECT STYLES FOR BOTH SEXES ILLUSTRATED AND DESCRIBED

Winter Fashions in Men's Clothing—The New Double Breasted Sack Coat That Promises to Become Popular—New Things in the Way of Neckwear.

The double breasted sack coat shown in the second figure of the cut is a new style of that garment, which promises to become quite popular. It is intended for wearing with an overcoat, and while peculiarly adapted to that purpose is very effective. The material represented is a plaid cheviot. The sack is 31 inches long, and moderately shapely. The lapels are well peaked and are 3 inches wide, the end of collar being ⅞ inch narrower. The edges are spaced for five holes, the two upper being 1½ inches farther apart than the others to give extra length to the roll. All the pockets have wide flaps, to go in or out. The buttons are 5 inches from the edge, and are of ivory or horn. The edges are double stitched, ½ inch wide, and the sleeves are finished with a deep vent, closed with three buttons. The vest opening, 7½ inches, is 25½ inches long, closes with five buttons, and has a notched collar with straight crease. The trousers average 20 inches at the knee and 18 at the bottom, they have a slight spring, and the side seams are finished with a narrow welt.

The material represented for the three buttoned cutaway suit shown in the same cut is a diagonal worsted. The vest is in fancy vesting and the trousers are in striped English trousering. The shoulders of the coat are moderately wide, the side seams fairly well curved, the side body narrow at natural waist. The lapels and collar are 1¾ inches wide, the roll is rather light, and the upper button is 5 inches below the end of the gorge. The lower button is 4⅞ inches above the waist seam, and the fronts are well cut away below it and boldly rounded to the bottom of the skirt. The edges are flat, braided, narrow, and the sleeves are finished with imitation cuffs, closed with three buttons. It is illustrated thrown open for the double purpose of showing how pleasing the effect of the lower roll is and displaying the vest.

A perfectly new thing for the neck is a small puff. The butterfly bow of last summer is reduced to the straight knot for fall and winter, and though the former was looked at askance by the choice trade the latter bids fair to become one of the popular novelties of the season, and is made, as a rule, of dead black satin; tip this knot under the new long roll, hand turned collar, which, by the way, is the very latest thing in collars, and you have a very neat, novel and complete neck dressing. The shirt bosom below this should be perfectly plain, with holes for three studs. Thanks are due to The Sartorial Art Journal for the foregoing cut and description.

Long Cloaks for Winter Wear.

In addition to the mantles and other short form of wraps are long, loose cloaks, reaching to the hem of the gown, and made with high collars lined with fur. On some of these new cloaks fur also appears on the yoke and border of the garment. Many of the long cloaks for walking or carriage wear are made of dark cloth or thick woolen fabric of mixed shades. The cloth ones are ornamented with fur revers, and the woolen materials are embellished with rows of stitching. The pelisses are made long and close fitting at the back, the fullness of the skirt part is gathered and sewn on to the end of the back, which lengthens the waist; the front is quite straight, without plaits or darts. Over this is a deep cape or pelerine, coming below the waist, and slightly fulled on the shoulders round a small yoke piece, with an open Medici collar. Sleeves can be added underneath if desired.

A NEW WAISTE PATTERN.

[illegible] have been brought [illegible] and in such a fashion [illegible] ornaments at the edge serve to [illegible] hem of the gown as well as the bodice and sleeves.

DOLLY DAULT'S WIT.

Sparkling Gems of Purest Humor from the Irish Dramatist's Plays.

The following are a few selections at random taken by The Philadelphia Press from the wit and wisdom so plentifully distributed among the plays of the late Dion Boucicault.

From "The Colleen Bawn."

Kyrle—They'll drown him

Myles—Never fear! He wasn't born to be drowned. He won't sink; he'll rise out of the world and divil a foot nearer to heaven he'll get than the top of the gallows.

Myles—Take the Colleen Bawn wid all my heart. I am like the boy who had a penny to put in the poor box—I'd rather keep it for myself. It's a shamrock itself ye have got, sir, and like that flower she'll come up every year fresh and green for-minst ye. When ye cease to love her may dyin' become ye, and when you do die have your money to the poor, your widdy to me, and we'll both forgive ye!

Father Tom—Let us go inside, Myles I've a word to say t' ye.

Myles—I've lost the key.

Father Tom—Sure it's stickin' inside.

Myles—I always lock the dure inside and lave it there when I go out for fear of losin' it.

From "London Assurance."

Max—I'm a plain man, and always speak my mind. What's in a face or figure? Does a Grecian nose entail a good temper? Does a waspish waist indicate a good heart? Or do oily, perfumed locks necessarily thatch a well furnished brain?

Sir H.—It's an undeniable fact, plain people always praise the beauties of the mind.

Max—I thought that the first Lady Courtly surfeited you with beauty.

Sir H.—No, she lived fourteen months with me, and then eloped with an intimate friend. Etiquette compelled me to challenge the seducer, so I received satisfaction—and a bullet in my shoulder at the same time. However, I had the satisfaction of knowing that he was the handsomest man of the age. She did not insult me by running away with a damned ill looking scoundrel!

Max—That certainly was flattering.

Sir H.—I felt so as I pocketed the £10,000 damages.

Max—That must have been a great balm to your sore honor.

Sir H.—It was, Max; my honor would have died without it, for in that year the wrong horse won the Derby by some mistake. It was one of the luckiest chances—a thing that does not happen twice in a man's life—the opportunity of getting rid of his wife and his debts at the same time.

Courtly—Dazzle, Dazzle, will you excuse an impertinent question, but who the deuce are you?

All—How, sir?

Dazzle—Simple question as you may think it, it would puzzle half the world to answer. One thing I can vouch. Nature made me a gentleman—that is, I live on the best that can be procured for credit. I never spend my own money when I can oblige a friend. I'm always thick on the winning horse. I'm an epidemic on the trade of tailor. For further particulars inquire of any sitting magistrate.

From "The Streets of New York."

Badger—Jerusha, ain't it cold? I could play the banjo on my stomach, while all my shivering anatomy would supply the bones.

From "The Shaughraun."

Claire—Go on now, Mrs. O'Kelly, and mind your own business. Do you think I'm not equal to making the butter come?

Mrs. O'K.—It's yourself can make the butter come. You have only to look at the milk and the butter will rise.

Mrs. O'K.—Is that yourself, Conn?

Conn (aside)—I wish it was somebody else that had book larnin'.

Mrs. O'K.—What have you there?

Conn—It's a letther the masther is afther writin' to me.

Mrs. O'K.—What's in it?

Conn.—Tuppence was in it for postage. (Aside.) That's all I made out of it.

Mrs. O'K.—I mane what does he say in it?

Conn—Rade it.

Mrs. O'K.—You know I can't.

Conn.—Oh, you ignorant old woman!

Mrs. O'K.—I know I am, but I took care to send you to school, Conn, and the sixpence a week it cost me was pinched out of my stomach and off my back. But, come now, tell me what the young masther says.

Conn (aside)—Murther, what'll I do? (Aloud.) Now mind, it's a sacret. (Reads.) Colle costhum garanha caravat salibubu luckli rastuck pig.

Mrs. O'K.—What's that? It's not English.

Conn—No; it's in writin'; now kape that to yourself.

Claire enters and Conn implores her to read the note. She takes it from him and looks at it.

Claire—This is in pencil.

Conn (relieved)—There, now, didn't I tell you it wasn't in English.

Of Course.

"Say, my lad, I'm told that they raise all their own vegetables on that light house. Is it true?"

"Gospil troof, boss."

"Bless me! How?"

"In baskets, sah."—Harper's Bazar.

CHILDREN GIVEN AWAY.

It Is Easy to Manage Children If You Only Know How.

"I'm so tired, my dear," said Childers when he came home from the office the other day. "What is the matter?"

"The children have been very tiresome today," replied Mrs. Childers wearily. "It seems as if they would make me distracted."

"Don't let 'em," said Childers with considerable energy. "Don't let 'em ride over you. Just—Willie, don't talk when papa's talking—just deal with them gently but firm—Did you hear me, Willie?—firmly and you'll get along all—Silence, Willie, this instant!—all right. As for letting 'em worry—Don't pull on my pockets, Dick—letting 'em worry—Dick! don't pull on my pockets, I said—worry—Will you take your hands out or not? Now keep them out. You've broken a couple of cigars for me now, you—What's Willie making such a racket about, Annie? Great Scott! he's got my silk hat. Take it—hang it up high. Now, Dick, if you cry you'll have—Lord, they've both commenced. It does seem, Annie, 's if the minute I come into the house—I can't talk!—I can't think. Won't you take 'em off to bed? My gracious! I'll bet if I was home I'd"——

But as the boys clattered away up the stairs with their tired mamma, Childers sat down and gazed gloomily into space, without saying just exactly what he would do if he was home.—M. W. in Puck.

Did He Leave Them at the Door?

"I am very much surprised at Biloon," said a department clerk to the young woman on whom he was calling. "A friend of mine met him in a drawing room the other evening and his clothes were checked."

"Oh, dear!" was the startled reply. "I have heard of men having their hats and overcoats and umbrellas checked, but his coat and—and—oh, this is simply terrible!"—Washington Post.

The Reason Why.

"Why is the Indian used as a sign for cigar stores?" asked Climax, as he watched Dakley lighting the cheroot just given him.

"I don't know—one in front—of—the—store—where you bought this?"

"Yes."

"Possibly it means then—if you—try to smoke—them you'll feel savage."—Philadelphia Times.

CATARRH

Is a constitutional and not a local disease, and therefore it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and effects a permanent cure. Thousands of people testify to the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh when other preparations had failed.

CATARRH

"I will say I have been troubled for several years with that terribly disagreeable disease, catarrh. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla with the very best results. It cured me of that continual dropping in my throat, and stuffed up feeling. It has also helped my mother, who has taken it for run down state of health and kidney trouble." MRS. S. D. HEATH, Putnam, Conn.

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh with very satisfactory results. I have received more permanent benefit from it than from any other remedy I have ever tried." M. E. READ, of A. Read & Son, Wauseon, O.

Talk Plainly to You.

THE Weather has been against us on the Clothing business—been too warm to urge sales. We looked for snow, but it didn't come. It is poor clothing weather and ugly roads. We have an immense stock and we want to sell it. To push the goods we make the prices attractive. By "attractive" we mean prices that invite your purchase when the figures are compared to other houses. Now is the glorious time to purchase Our $5, $6, $7, $8 and $10 Overcoats are regular eye-openers, and ready-made Suits from $4 to $15 are marvelously low. Come in for proof.

MOTHERS! MOTHERS!!

Don't delay, but come now and buy your Boys' Clothing. We were never better prepared and never sold goods so low.

THE HOLIDAY TRADE.

There is promise of a large Holiday trade and the season is near at hand when the merchant is ready to bid for that line of patronage. The newspaper is conceded to be the most valuable medium for reaching the people, and we are prepared to prove the STAR the most valuable of the newspapers of Marion. With a daily edition of more than 1400 hundred copies, put in homes where they are read every night, an advertisement in the DAILY STAR speaks to 7000 readers. That makes a fine audience before which to ask for trade. The WEEKLY STAR reaches the county and the surrounding county towns, and more than 1300 hundred of them are received by eager readers every Saturday. That means 6500 readers, so an advertisement in the DAILY and WEEKLY STAR is read by fully 13500 persons.

We speak of these because there are all kinds of schemes, newspaper and otherwise, to get the money of the advertiser. It is a business matter. A merchant pays for service. He possibly can't reasonably afford to patronize all, then he should choose the one that offers the best results. For Marion the STAR is that paper.

AN ADJOURNED SESSION

The City Council Meets and Transacts Business—Sidewalk Question Settled.

At the adjourned session of the city council Tuesday evening there were present Clerk Davis, Councilmen Fairbanks, Roberts, Blake, Issleib, Leffler and Porch. In the absence of Mayor Dudley, Roberts was elected to the chair, and he presided with grace and dignity, but the position handicapped his kicking propensities considerably.

After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting and their approval street and alley business was taken up. The petition of J. J. Snyder and others for sidewalk, was reported upon favorably by the committee, and a resolution granting the construction of same was presented, passed the formal readings and adopted.

The plat of Silas Uncapher's first addition was reported upon favorably by the street and alley committee, and an ordinance accepting same passed.

An ordinance to issue bonds to the amount of $577.50 for the improvement of Olney avenue, passed the formal readings and was adopted unanimously. A resolution was also passed, authorizing the appointment of appraisers on Olney avenue.

The Vine street improvement was again brought up, and a resolution providing for same was passed without dissention.

The bad condition of Mill and Vine and east South streets was reported and on motion the trustees of the M. E. church and also T. J. McMurray were ordered to put said streets in as good condition as they were before opening the same for the purpose of tiling.

Issleib again sprung his sidewalk hobby, and justly urged the matter of some definite action being taken. The result was more discussion of the question, with a final decision in favor of leniency until a special act could be passed by the legislature authorizing the issue of bonds for construction of walks, to be paid for by assessment, thus avoiding a hardship to people with limited means. This was the real feeling at the passage of the sidewalk ordinance in the spring. No special action was taken in regard to those who had already constructed contrary to the provisions of the ordinance, some of whom intend building in the spring, in which cases forcing compliance would entail a loss to them.

The committee on accounts reported some bills, which were paid on motion without dissention.

Council adjourned until the regular meeting, December 1st.

IT LOOKED SUSPICIOUS

A Stranger Tries to Sell a Five Dollar Bill for Four Dollars, But Fails.

A gray-haired stranger with a lame leg and an apparent crick in his back, was about town Tuesday evening trying to dispose of a five dollar bill for four dollars, and in some instances it is said he offered to take three. The reason for this extensive shave, for which there appeared no plausibility, was that the bill had one lower corner torn off and consequently went as mutilated currency; and the banks of course were closed at the time and the man could not make an exchange. The fellow said he came from Kenton and wanted to go to Columbus. His story was not given much credence and far as known he did not make the exchange. The bill looked all right and it would have taken an expert to test its genuineness, but the actions of the man led to the belief that the money was spurious.

It was thought that the corner of the bill had been nipped off intentionally, but yet there were certainly other ways in which he could have disposed of the money without detection if anything was wrong, and his actions appeared quite strange.

—S. A. Coffy has been confined to his home for the past couple days with sickness and is still unable to be about.

—Judge Criswell left for Cincinnati today at noon to look after the personal effects—books, clothes, etc., of the late Will Criswell.

—The board of education of Marion public schools met Tuesday evening. A few bills were ordered paid, and no special business transacted.

—Miss Laura Kauffman has returned to her home in Bellefontaine, after a week's visit in Marion, the guest of Misses Ella and Stella Ault.

—W. H. Robinson, who has had a siege of illness at his east Center street home, has so far recovered that he will visit a few days with friends at Richwood.

—Mr. Stephens, the man who proposed the church organ manufactory for Marion, was in the city Tuesday. Mr. Stephens has had an organ of his build shipped here.

—It should be remembered that "Faust and Marguerite," at Music Hall tomorrow night, promises to be one of the really good shows that will be at Music Hall this season.

—Dr. J. F. Martin, Green Camp's esteemed homeopathic physician, has removed to this city, taking up his residence on Bellefontaine avenue. The Doctor is a successful practitioner and a good citizen and it is Marion's good fortune to have him locate here.

—Manager Sargent has had to refuse dates to some splendid shows that have wanted in at Music Hall all nearly at the same time, among them the "Pair of Jacks." An effort will be made to have them take dates that will not conflict and overdo the show business.

—Ed. K. Uhler, the lumber salesman, was at Espyville Tuesday for quail, and many a family in this city were eating choice birds today as the result of his good fortune in gunning. The load he brought in was only excelled by the fomous luck that Frash, Issleib and Kling enjoyed in Thursday's rain.

—Engineer Bell and assistants were out establishing street grades in Stickle & Uncapher's addition today, so that shade trees may be planted with a guarantee that they won't be torn up at some future grading. This is a decided improvement over the old way of planting at random and tearing up by the order of the council.

—A west bound freight train on the Erie this morning had a car thrown from the track just west of the Center street crossing. One of the trainmen came back and informed the workmen at the junction, who went to the scene and placed the car on the track again. No damage was done except delaying the train about thirty minutes.

—The story is reported that a few days since an old chap with considerable gall was about the city selling some kind of a medicine, passing himself off as the eminent Dr. Hamilton, of Columbus. It is not learned how many were taken in by this game. The Columbus doctor, however, with his several thousands, has not started out peddling medicine as yet.

—The case of John McAndrews against the N. Y., L. E. & W. R'y Co. for $10,000 damages, began in court this morning. H. L. Van Fleet, assisted by B. G. Young, is attorney for plaintiff, and McNeal & Wolford are defending the railroad company. McAndrews is a car repairer, and was injured in the west end yards while working under a car, when a cut of cars were thrown back against the one under which he was working.

—Postmaster Fogleson desires us to call attention of citizens to the necessary increase of postage on drop letters, under the free delivery system. The postal regulations require all drop letters to bear a two cent stamp. When a letter is dropped in the office with a one cent stamp the receiver has to pay the extra postage. This isn't calculated to put one in good humor when the drop letter contains a request to call and settle. Parties should remember the change and use two cent stamps

An exchange has that some men never take a joke. Uncle Wash was asked what was good for mosquitoes, wrote back: "How do you suppose I can tell unless I know what ails the mosquito?"

The Railroad Equipment Company.

C. G. Harraman, who has been here in the interest of the proposed Prescott Railroad Equipment Co., has been confined to his room at Hotel Marion for the past few days with a severe sore throat and is still unable to be out. The matter is now ready to be presented to citizens for subscriptions, but Mr. Harraman's illness has delayed this work.

The Chicago people interested in the new machine are to hold a meeting tonight to consider some other locations where inducements have been offered. Marion should be alive to this enterprise, and if possible, secure it. The conservative plan upon which those interested propose to manufacture the machine should certainly be an inducement to subscribers of stock.

Another Old Citizen Dead.

John Kibler, a much respected and quite generally known old gentleman in the western part of the county, died at his home, one mile west of Green Camp, this morning at 7 o'clock, aged 82 years.

Mr. Kibler was one of the old residents of the county, having resided here about 50 years, during which time he accumulated a very comfortable fortune, and at the same time won the esteem and respect of a large circle of acquaintances by his integrity and honest purposes.

Deceased was taken with typhopneumonia about a week ago and soon grew beyond the hope of recovery. He leaves a wife and no children.

The funeral arrangements have not as yet been made.

Thumb Mashed Off.

S. P. Overly, a day switchman in the C. and E. local yards—what was formerly the C. and A.—had the thumb of his right hand taken off at the first joint this afternoon while at work. The engine was backing up to hitch onto a car, when a man who was not an employe made an attempt to make the coupling. Overly saw the move and jumped in to save the fellow from injury and pulled him out from between the engine and car. This made him late in getting hold of the link, and in reaching for it his thumb was caught. Dr. Rhu dressed up the injured hand.

THE LATEST IN JEWELS.

Seal rings with engraved bands are new.

Earrings and ear screws divide favor, and are small in size.

Many women wear seal rings of small to medium size; a seal ring is becoming to the hand, especially if the hand is a large one.

A gift of good augury is a tiny enameled heartsease set in a diamond heart, which betokens the thought the name suggests.

Grape jewelry is new and attractive. The fruit is represented in sardonyx, and appears in both the green and purple state.

A single grape set in a scarfpin affords an attractive trinket, while a group of three or four, with diamond tendrils, makes a pretty brooch.

Among watch chatelaines the novelty is a small affair that expresses itself in form of a flower or other motif, and which is fastened at the side of the corsage.

Jewelers returning from abroad are bringing with them handsome gold pieces about the size of a shilling with the head of Jeanne d'Arc in profile. These are designed to hang from watch chains or bracelets.

Many tempting effects have been produced in enamel. Pompadour colors are reproduced with admirable results on chatelaines and other chains, where the links show alternate colors; the faintest tints are most favored.

One of the prettiest among revived patterns is the double heart crowned with a true lover's knot. Of this double heart jewelry there is an infinite variety in pearls, turquoises or moonstones, and adorning bangles and brooches, rings, pins and lockets.—Jewelers' Circular.

Friends.

Belle (triumphantly)—Mr. Follibud proposed to me last night.

Good news. We want every mother to know that croup can be prevented. True croup never appears without a warning. The first symptom is hoarseness, then the child appears to have taken cold or a cold may have accompanied the hoarseness from the start. After that a peculiar rough cough is developed, which is followed by the croup. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse; a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy would prevent the attack. Even after the rough cough has appeared the disease may be prevented by using this remedy as directed. The only safe way is to keep a 50 cent bottle of the Remedy in the house for use whenever symptoms of the disease appear. For sale by L. H. Flocken & Co., druggists.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Flocken's Drug Store.

Marion Cemetery Notice.

The season's work being closed, we are desirous that all accounts for lot work, etc., be settled before January 1st, '91. Mr. Wilson has not the time to call personally on each one to collect; persons owing bills please call at the office, at Green House, where Mr. Wilson, the superintendent, or Mrs. Wilson, his wife, may be found, either of whom will take pay and give receipt for the work. There are many bills due and standing one or more years; these must be paid, unless it is done we will decline to do more work on such lots until they are adjusted.

We respectfully call the attention of patrons of the Cemetery and others to our new Green Houses and invite you to visit them. It is the aim of the Association to furnish a fine variety of plants and flowers for decorating the Cemetery, also sell to any who may wish for use on their lots or otherwise. The citizens of Marion are noted for the interest they take in the Cemetery. The management intend to aid in every way and do our full share in way of beautifying the silent city. Plants and cut flowers will be sold at very reasonable prices TRUSTEES.

IT IS A FACT

Which nobody can dispute, that a large show window requires a good deal of work if it is to attract attention, and bring in the customers who are looking for men's goods. I have done my very best this week to make the show as handsome as possible, and it will be worth your time to examine the goods displayed and the prices at which I offer them.

First of all the line of Overcoats in all weights and colors, from the light fall overcoat to the heaviest and best Chinchillas, for Children, Boys and Men's, ranging in price from $1.00 to $25.00. Suits from a child's suit at $1.25 to the best tailor-made suits for men at $25.00.

Heavy Chinchilla Coats and Vests, in all shades, at prices to suit everybody. The underwear displayed is from a cotton shirt at 25c to the best natural wool at $1.75 each. In dress shirts I have a full variety, from a 50c white shirt to a $2.00 full dress one. Woolen shirts of all description and all prices.

The Hat department is full of the various styles of dress and slouch hats. Neckwear and Gloves were never so plenty as at present and at prices according to value.

You will be sure to get value for your money no matter what you purchase, as every garment is marked in plain figures and that is strictly the price for all.

SAM OPPENHEIMER,

One Price Clothier, Bennett Building.

UNDERWEAR!

YOU should see our stock of Ladies Underwear in the White, Red Natural Wool and the Black. We have as fine a line of these goods as was ever put on the market. In CHILDREN'S UNDERWEAR our Natural Wool can not be beat.

—The cards are out for the marriage of Harry R. Young to Miss Denney. The ceremony occurs at St. Paul's church at high noon on Wednesday, December 3d.

—J. H. Owen, of Claridon, merchant of that place and a well known citizen of this county, died at his home Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock, after about a year's sickness. The funeral will occur Thursday at 11 o'clock.

—A telegram was received Tuesday from T. J. McMurray, stating that he had arrived safe in New York and would reach Marion Thursday. Mr. McMurray, as it is known, has been in Europe in the interest of the McMurray & Fisher Sulky Co.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Malloy celebrated the tenth anniversary of their marriage, at their home on north Main street, Tuesday evening. A large number of invited guests were present and enjoyed the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Malloy received a number of presents.

—In the sidewalk discussion at the meeting of the city council Tuesday evening, the report was made that B. P. Thew intends erecting a new building at the southeast corner of Main and Center streets, in the spring. This would be an improvement quite gratifying.

—H. W. Culbertson, the popular and efficient agent of the C. H. V. and T. at this place, recently tendered the company his resignation, but the management refused to accept. With their refusal came a nice increase of salary, so it is likely that Mr. Culbertson will continue to serve and please the company's patrons at this point.

The National W. C. T. U. in Session at Atlanta, Georgia—A Letter from Louise H. Chier.

[Special Correspondence to STAR.]

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 17—Sixty years ago an old log house marked the site of Atlanta, today it is the gate city of the south, containing 66,000 inhabitants, beautiful for situation and the road leading to it from the north runs through some of the grandest, most beautiful scenery on this side the continent.

The route culminates in grandeur as well as in altitude in the approach to Chattanooga. The road climbs the Cumberlain mountains with a grade of 125 feet to the mile till near the crest, where it pierces with a tunnel half a mile long, then descends the other side by an incline almost as steep as the ascent, till it again reaches the bed of the Tennessee river. This beautiful stream kept us company for hours, its banks brilliant with autumn foliage, showing gorgeously against the deeper hued mountain side.

Eight railroads center here, and there are about two hundred manufacturing establishments. There are 35 miles of street railway, 62 churches, representing every denomination. It has a number of schools for higher education, among them Atlanta Female Institute, Georgia Female College, Georgia School of Technology, Atlanta University, Clark University and Spelman Seminary.

Atlanta is perminently a city of beautiful homes, many of them now entertaining delegates to the National W. C. T. U. convention. Never has the National meeting had so royal a welcome as that given it on Friday evening. Trinity M. E. church, the largest in the city, was packed to its utmost and an overflow meeting held in basement. Welcomed by the church, by several of her representative pastors, on the part of the state by her grand christian Governor Northen. "I never stood in such a remarkable presence," said the governor. He welcomed the members for themselves, for their purposes, and for their earnestness. His speech was a tender and loving exposition of the Union's noble work and purposes. It is said that Georgia's christian governor never showed to more splendid and manly advantage than when he delivered the address of welcome to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

By the way, this is the man recently elected by the Farmers' Alliance of Georgia. Addresses of welcome were made also by the editors of the two dailies of Atlanta, viz., the Constitution and the Journal. These spoke of past welcomes to distinguished persons and bodies from all parts of the country from capitalists to the President of the United States, and concluded with the statement that their papers were prouder to welcome such a body as the National W. C. T. U. than all others.

Mrs. W. C. Sibley, president of the W. C. T. U. of the state of Georgia, made a beautiful speech of welcome on behalf of the Georgia W. C. T. U. The last address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. Sallie F. Chapin, of South Carolina, who was introduced as the "Henry of Navarre" of the W. C. T. U. Such an address of welcome has seldom been heard as came from the lips of this staunch southerner.

The convention is the largest in the history of the Union. Over 500 regular delegates representing every state in the Union from Maine to California. The Union has had an increase of 2000 new local unions during the past year, and a surplus in the treasury of over $4000. Yesterday being Lord's Day most of the leading pulpits of the city were filled by representative W. C. T. U. women. In the afternoon the large opera house was packed to listen to our grand leader, Miss Willard, and Mrs. Terelda Wallace. It is well known that her famous author son made her the heroine of Ben Hur.

On Wednesday, Nov. 19th, our body is given a free excursion and a reception at Indian Springs—a famous Georgia resort.

The hours are crowded with items and events of interest, the place with notables from different sections of the country, which might be written of, but convention session crowds on and I will only add more anon.

LOUISE H. CHIER.

NOT AT HOME

The Proprietors of the Home Steam Laundry Out of Town.

Custer & Friez, who came here last August from Piqua, O., and established the Home Steam Laundry at the Kerr House, appear to be failures in a business sense, at least so far as their business pertained to Marion. Saturday evening one member of the firm left the city and has not as yet returned. The other was still in the city Tuesday morning, but the machinery at the laundry had stopped. It was agreed that the Kerr House work should be gotten out immediately, but this was not done, and the last remaining member of the firm left the city some time Tuesday.

The general impression is that Custer & Friez have gone for good but there is one thing certain, and that is that they have left several unpaid bills behind them. The machinery and apparatus is covered with chattel mortgages, but those holding same claims are in the consomme, as it were. The departure of the laundrymen was sudden and unexpected.

—Charles Lederman was in Upper Sandusky on a business trip Tuesday.

Even the Men are interested in our Dress Goods windows and in the prices marked on the patterns. Our north window has just been filled with very stylish suitings—Camels' Hair Plaids, Cheviots and the ever popular Serges.

Black Dress Goods need to be inspected carefully. We have a very large stock of choice weaves and we think we can save you some money. Samples cheerfully given. If you can not decide on a color buy Black. Every lady, whatever the age, looks well in Black.

Natural Wood Handles! We have just placed on sale an assortment of fine Silk Umbrellas with very artistic handles. They make acceptable presents.

Capes—they are very desirable—Monkey, Beaver, Wool Seal, Astrachan, Coney, Etc. Muffs to match everything,

Have you bought your Jacket? We should like to show you. We have the newest shapes. Many of our best things are confined styles, controlled by us in the city. Some very new effects in Plush and Astrachan.

Underwear! Do not wait until severe cold weather is upon us. Men's Natural Wool at 75c; ladies Natural Wool; also Dr. Warner's Health Underwear for ladies, men and children in both Camels' Hair and Natural.

A Few Pairs Left—those Mechanicsburg Blankets, made of pure wool, well twisted—equal to the home-made, but softer. They will wear a lifetime. The natural wool blankets are serviceable and warm.

WARNER & EDWARDS.

DRESS GOODS!

WE are showing an exceptionally large line of Dress Goods. In Plaids we offer all the Novelties of the Season. Our stock of Plain Goods is large. In Black Dress Goods we stand without a rival in Marion county. Never before in the history of Marion was there such an array of Black Silks shown, and at the prices that we only can make, because we sell only for cash. Just think! Elegant Black Wool Henriettas, 46 inches wide, at 69c, 75c and 82 1-2c!

Some stores would consider them bargains at 75c, 85c and $1. Serges, Armures, Almas, Glorias, Silk-Warp Henriettas and the other principal weaves at uniformly low prices. Our Silk-Warp Henrietta at 95c is conceded to be the best value ever shown in Ohio. We have added some entirely new things to our already large Trimming Stock!

Which makes it today the banner of the county. Samples of any of these goods for comparison will be freely given.

VICTORY FOR PLAINTIFF

Charley Racy Receives a Verdict for $5,000 Against the C. C. C. and I. R'y Co.

The case of Charles Racy against the C. C. C. and I. Railway Co., which occupied the attention of the common pleas court Monday and Tuesday, was decided Tuesday evening by a verdict for $5,000 for plaintiff. The amount asked was $10,000. The jury was only out about half an hour. The verdict was rather a surprise to many, although it was thought Racy had a good case, but it was not expected the amount would be so large.

Defendant's attorney filed motion for new trial, and it is thought the case will be taken up to the circuit court on error.

Johnston & Young and M. B. Chase were plaintiff's attorneys, and W. Z. Davis and S. H. Holding, of Cleveland, assistant general attorney of the Big Four, represented the interests of the railway company.

W. J. Young Assigns.

W. J. Young, the grocer who has occupied the Sharpless room on south Main street for the past six weeks, assigned Tuesday evening for the benefit of his creditors, to D. R. Crissinger, assignee. The assets are estimated at about $3000, and the liabilities are from $1500 to $2000.

Mr. Young came here from Forest. The cause of the failure was poor business and other influences. Mrs. Young and children reside in Hardin county, and the deed of assignment was filed at Kenton.

A National Event.

The holding of the World's Fair in a city scarcely fifty years old will be a remarkable event, but whether it will really benefit this nation as much as the discovery of the Restorative Nervine by Dr. Franklin Miles is doubtful. This is just what the American people need to cure their excessive nervousness, dyspepsia, headache, dizziness, sleeplessness, neuralgia, nervous debility, dullness, confusion of mind, etc. It acts like a charm. Trial bottles and fine book on "Nervous and Heart Disease," with unequaled testimonials, free at Denison & Co's, and Hoberman & Co's. It is warranted to contain no opium, morphine or dangerous drugs.
